

Are You Kitchen-Ready?

1. Measure Your Kitchen

Follow the guide below to measure your kitchen.

First, measure your kitchen's length, width, and height. Record it below:

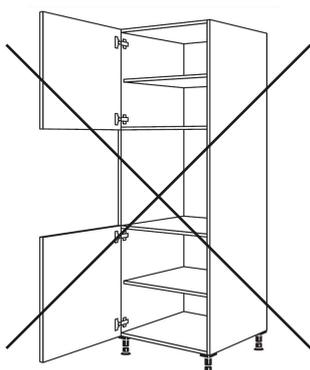

Length Width Height

Next, measure the length of each wall. Record it below:

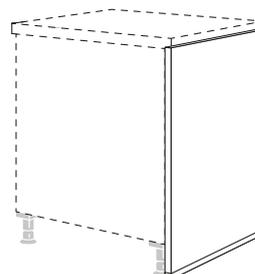

Wall 1 Wall 2 Wall 3 Wall 4

Things To Note

If your kitchen is shorter than 2100mm in height, you will not be able to fit any tall units in your new kitchen.

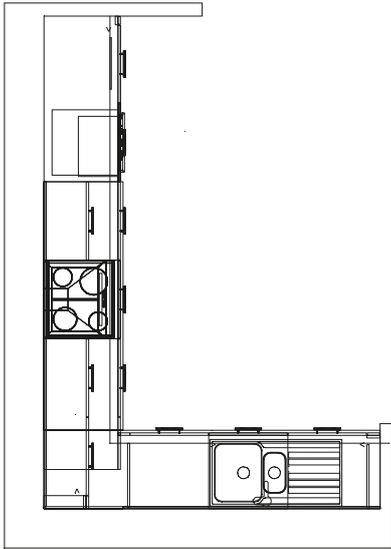

If the end of your unit is exposed, don't panic - we do have end panels available.

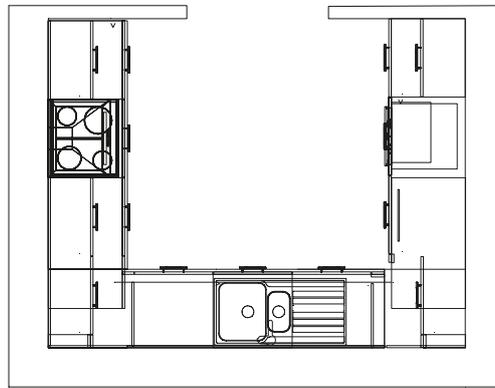

2. Choose Your Kitchen

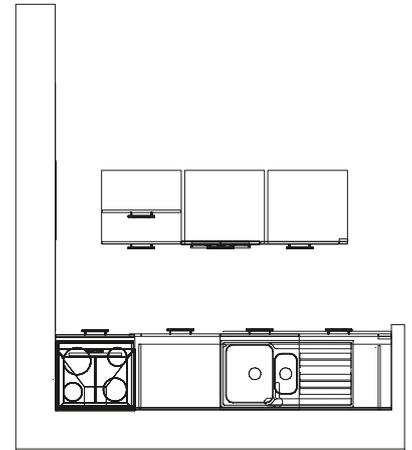

Choose between one of three different layouts for your kitchen.

Draw Your Kitchen

Feel free to use the area below to draw out your idea for your kitchen. If you run out of space, please download our drawing pad. Refer to our brochure for the widths of all of our units - this will help you to draw as accurately as possible.

3. Account For Extras

Don't forget to account for the little things listed below!

Plinths

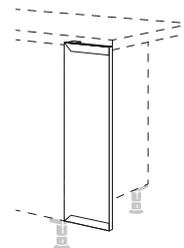

Be sure to take note of how many plinths you will need and at what sizes. Refer to your drawing to work out the dimensions of your new kitchen.

Panel Fillers

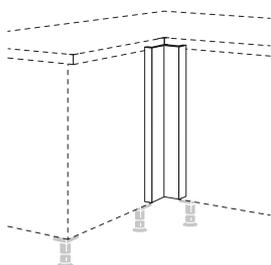

If your kitchen comes up short and leaves a gap between the units and the wall, you will need a filler panel to fill the gap.
